Practice Management Workshop: Launching and Growing a Successful Age Management Practice

Many attendees of the AMMG conferences are attracted to the field of Age Management Medicine, but do not feel qualified, or empowered with the necessary tools, to successfully transition from the well-established structure of disease-based medicine or from the traditional insurance-based reimbursement system into a system which relies to a significant degree upon direct pay. In addition, this workshop is also designed to complement the AMMG Certification in Age Management Medicine for physicians and healthcare professionals and to help educate and inform medical and office staff.

Attendees will be guided through the process of developing an Age Management Practice. Our goal is for the attendee to be equipped with the basic tools for making the necessary decisions on what is required from a Practice Management point of view.

Workshop: Genomics as a Clinically Usable and Relevant Tool for Improving Healthy Aging

Genomics can be a powerful tool for precision medicine and age management. Chronic diseases associated with aging such as cognitive decline, heart disease, macular degeneration and osteoporosis are not caused by one gene. They are instead caused by the interactions of multiple small genomic variants interacting with the diet, lifestyle, environment and each other. Genomics can provide a lens into how to optimize health and longevity. Part of this lens is identifying genomic contributing factors to chronic diseases and using the understanding of gene function to address and optimize their management. In this workshop participants will learn how to make genomics clinically actionable so that better brain, cardiac and overall health and longevity can be obtained for your patients. Even if you are not sure if you want to use genomics in your practice this workshop will benefit you by giving you a deeper understanding of contributing factors to chronic diseases and how to address them!

Workshop is limited to licensed practicing clinicians
Non-CME

8:00 am – 8:45 am

Welcome and Introduction to Genomics as a Clinical Decision Support Tool

Workshop: Essential Knowledge in the Clinical Use of Peptides for Age Management Medicine

The use of Peptides and Peptide Therapies has experienced exponential growth over the past few years. Their uses range from impacting hormonal change, to antibiotic properties, to treatments for conditions of aging such as cancer, cardiovascular health, memory & brain health and sexual function. AMMG in conjunction with the Clinical Peptide Society have an educational mandate to fill knowledge gaps for physicians and healthcare professionals. This course is a focused track on discovering the power of peptides and the essential knowledge and medical science in the clinical use of peptides for Age Management with special attention to legalities & FDA approved and non-approved compounds and uses. At the conclusion of this workshop the Clinical Peptide Society will offer attendees the opportunity to take an online examination on this material and obtain a Certificate of Completion for this course.

Workshop (½ day): Non-Surgical / Non-Opioid Pain Management Options for Age Management Medicine

Age Management physicians deal with a wide range of complex patient ideologies often with a limited scope of technology and treatment options. This workshop will take a deep dive into the role of managing pain and how it is able to play an important role in mitigating inflammatory diseases and surrounding immunomodulatory effects that affect interventional pain management patients. This course will provide strategies for treatment that are compatible and complementary with Age Management Medicine such as Vagal Modulation, Diet, Supplements, & Viscosupplementation while also gaining a strong understanding of the biochemistry of inflammatory diseases.

8:00 am – 8:45 am

Overview of the Science of Chronic Pain: Complex Yet Common Pain Issues

Chris Kleronomos, FNP, DAOM, MSc.

8:45 am – 9:15 am

Workshop (½ day): Environmental Medicine for Age Management Clinicians

Environmental Medicine is by definition multidisciplinary and is becoming an important part of Age Management Medicine since there is a demonstrated role in causing or mediating disease, particularly acute in an aging population. This workshop will try to create awareness of the issues in Environmental Medicine such as chemical exposure, exposure to toxins and mycotoxins, exposure through the air, food and water we consume. In addition we will discuss misdiagnosis of disease, preventative methods to avoid exposure, and assessment and diagnoses of patients with suspected exposure and how to formulate a treatment plan.

AGE MANAGEMENT MEDICINE

The E-Journal of Age Management Medicine (Editor, Jeff Morris) is published six times a year by AMMG. Now in its 17th year, this electronic publication is designed to introduce readers to the specialty of Age Management Medicine, whether they are healthcare professionals familiar with this proactive, preventative approach who have already incorporated it into their practice, or are among those interested in doing so. We acknowledge the medical professionals who have pioneered in this area, and our goal is to provide them and those who will follow in their footsteps with a reliable source of cutting edge news, practical advice and relevant information about Age Management Medicine—with the goal of superior patient care, increased practice revenue and greater job satisfaction. Your comments or suggestions are welcome at journal@AgeMed.org.

CALL FOR ARTICLES AND PAPERS

The E-Journal of Age Management Medicine encourages and invites authors interested in submitting articles for publication to email us at journal@AgeMed.org.

Specifications: Articles should be non-commercial and must be related to Age Management Medicine. Those articles offering clinical perspectives or original research are given priority. Articles should be submitted in an electronic format, preferably in Microsoft Word as an attached file. Articles of extreme length may be split and published as multi-part articles. Please limit or exclude graphics. Articles should include a short biographical sketch of all listed authors.

Provisions: AMMG retains the right to refuse any article that we determine to be outside our editorial mission or inappropriate for this publication. AMMG may approve selected articles for reprinting in other publications, providing proper accreditation to the original author(s).
